What is I-TAA

The International TESOL Accrediting Authority is a legal body comprised of a registered company with directors selected from world leading academics. Its authority is to accredit TESOL certificate programs.

About the International TESOL Accrediting Authority Mission. TESOL courses are unregulated in one sense in so far as the Internet provides an unregulated forum devoid of country specific laws. Unregulated in a second sense in that other courses provide a variety of programs that should never be allowed to exist for they bring the TESOL profession into disrepute.

There are an estimated 4,200 TESOL courses available for the new or experienced teacher to choose from. Yet there is no professional and definitive source of information that identifies a course as reputable. The I-TAA mission is to establish a world wide authority to regulate the spread of TESOL course such that the practitioner wishing to avail him/herself of such course can undertake said courses with the utmost confidence in

- (a) the quality of the course
- (b) the legal basis of the company running the course
- (c) the educators teaching the course are both qualified and experienced
- (d) fees are appropriate to the type of course on offer
